SYSTEMS & NETWORKS - Taline Temizian - 06 January to 20 March

Taline Temizian, a self-proclaimed “nowhere girl” explores with her work, experiences that have shaped her life, creating an uncanny world of flattened time and wildly shifting perspectives. Her work is highly gestural and yet meticulously planned, merging the factual with the fictional; imposing a subtle geometry and the illusion of order on to a world full of uncertainty.

System

A formula, an algorithm... A lead to endless results

Network

A system of components and concepts

Human interactions netting a system by forming nodes and layers

A matrix of woven strings, attached and intersected with light and colours

A mapped projection... A series of movements

Kinetic

A visual consequence, a sum of interactions, multiplications or intersections

A light installation, a set of images, a sensory experience, a voyage to one's heart and soul

Systems & Networks explores fashion as a system and a network, represented here visually with light, colours, forms and movements through exploring various scenarios: overlapping, intersecting and fragmenting other system & networks with every movement..
